Conquering the Colosseum!!

For me, travel has always been a way of life. As a young girl, my family and I took many adventurous trips to the different national parks throughout the country, including Yellowstone National Park and Zion National Park. While I was in college, I had the opportunity to study abroad in Italy, where I lived in Florence and spent time immersing myself in the art, culture and flavor of the country.

Now, my husband and I make traveling a top priority and have already visited several new destinations together, including Paris, Seattle and Haiti. After spending five years as a kindergarten teacher, I soon began to realize that so much of our education actually takes place outside of the classroom. Recognizing my love of travel and my ability to coordinate logistics to create a memorable experience, I knew that a career change was in order. Becoming a travel agent has been the perfect fit!

As a travel agent, I specialize in booking the following types of vacations:

- Theme Park Adventures — To put it simply, these vacations are just plain fun! I am currently working on certifications for a variety of the best theme parks in the country, and will soon be a Disney College of Knowledge graduate.
- Cruises — Cruises are an ideal vacation choice for all types of travelers. I am working on completing my certification with the Royal Caribbean Cruise Line.
- All-inclusive Resorts — Whether you are looking for family fun or a romantic rendezvous, an all-inclusive resort is an amazing option. I can provide recommendations for a variety of resorts in many different tropical destinations.
- Customized Vacations — I will create a personalized itinerary for any destination you want to visit. I recently planned a completely customized two-week vacation to the East Coast.

I truly believe there is no better way to learn about yourself and the people around you than to travel the world. Through visiting new destinations and meeting the local residents, you will learn so much about our differences yet also begin to recognize that we are all very much the same!

Now is the best time to book your next getaway! Contact me today for more information about the best deals that are available.

MY REVIEWS

I would go on an another cruise in a second!!!!
